Peace Corps Signs 695; State College Record Set

The Peace Corps wound-up a week of recruiting at San Jose State last Friday and came close to registering a national record of students during the one-week period.

Our neighbor to the north, the University of California, is the only college in California that topped SJS's totaled number of 695 registrants.

As far as the California State Colleges go, SJS topped all previous Peace Corps sign-up records.

On Monday, Oct. 14, 266 students signed up for the examinations. This mark was only 28 short of a national record for a single day's registration.

By Tuesday the total number had climbed to 422. On a rainy Wednesday only 87 Spartans braved the damp elements to register. Thursday evening found the Peace Corps with 640 signups.

At 5 p.m. Friday, a weary and worn-out team of Peace Corps representatives tallied the last registrant, added them up and came out with a total of 695 SJS signups.

The SJS mark crumbled an old record set by San Diego State of 467 total signups during a one week period.

Most students who signed for a place with the Corps took examinations over the weekend at the San Jose Post Office.

Warren W. Wiggins, associate Director of the Peace Corps, and Sally Saltonstall, Public Affairs division, will be back to Washington to their regular jobs sometime this week.

Newsman Abel Here Oct. 23

Elie Abel, NBC news correspondent, will speak Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. in Concert Hall on "Fifteen Years of Cold War—A Checklist of Gains and Losses."

A graduate of Canada's McGill University and the Columbia University School of Journalism, Abel joined the Overseas News Agency as United Nations correspondent at the end of World War II.

In 1949 he became a roving reporter in Eastern Europe for the New York Times, a job he held for 10 years.

Before moving to NBC News in 1961, Abel was chief of the Detroit News' Washington bureau.

His talk, sponsored by the College Lecture Committee, is open to the public without charge.

Chancellor Answers State College Queries

By JERRY ARCA

Should each California state college be an imitation of the 17 others, serving principally those students in the college's area?

Should the state colleges emphasize liberal arts or should they emphasize the applied, professional sciences?

These two academic questions, discussed the past year by faculty members and administrators throughout the state college system, have been answered by Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke.

POLICY CLARIFIED

The policy clarifications were a part of the chancellor's September "Newsletter" sent to the presidents and faculty members of the state colleges.

Dr. Dumke explained that the colleges would not become "regional" schools, all offering the same academic programs.

"One of the strengths of this college system is its internal diversity," the newsletter stated.

BEST IN THE NATION

"Many different types of programs are possible within the flexibility of this system, but each must be of fully collegiate level in rigor and academic demand, and they must strive to be of the best of their kind in the nation."

"Under the Academic Plan, certain colleges will develop great strengths in specified programs. These programs must be made to serve students from all over California who wish to enter them."

LIBERAL ARTS VS. APPLIED SCIENCES

The question of liberal arts versus applied sciences was "exercised once and for all" in the Newsletter.

The paper made it clear that the

Debate Slated On Teachers' Right To Go on Strike

Four faculty members will discuss "Should college faculty members have the right to strike?" today in Cafeteria Rooms A and B at 12:30.

Moderator Dr. George A. Muench, professor of psychology, said the debate-discussion is a result of recent strike threats in California and New York.

On the affirmative side will be Drs. Roland F. Lee, associate professor of English, and Richard G. Tansey, professor of art.

For the negative will be Drs. William R. Rogers, professor of education, and Bert M. Morris, professor of chemistry.

The deadline for appointments for color photographs of seniors has been extended until today. Appointments may be made in the Student Affairs Business Office.

Pictures will be taken from 9 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. at 303 S. Ninth St., second floor, rooms 4 and 5 until Nov. 20.

A charge of $2.80 is to be paid at the time of sitting. Personal senior pictures also will be taken at this time.

NOW HEAR THIS—Luis Miguel Valdez, SJS student, voices his opinion on Latin American problems at Friday's Seventh Street Forum before almost 200 listeners. The Forum, held every Friday afternoon on the closed stretch of Seventh, has been featuring impromptu speeches on most any topic.

Faculty's United Fund Drive Short of Goal by $6500

San Jose State College's faculty and employees are $6,500 short of their goal of $14,000 for this year's United Funds campus goal, according to Frank Peluso, associate professor of education and director of this year's campaign.

Peluso expects about 55 per cent of the 1,800 faculty members and employees to contribute to the drive, compared to the 49 per cent who gave last year. So far, 500 of them have contributed $7,500.

Peluso has distributed IBM-type pledge cards through various departmental chairmen. Of the contributions to be made, he expects

Signups Begin

Secondary student teaching signups for the spring semester will begin this week.

The signups will be taken from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in ED402, according to Dr. William B. Spring, coordinator of secondary student teaching.

Semester's First

Midterms: Time of Fear

It's that time of the year again!

A time when books are of prime importance. A time when the study lamp is lighted far into the night. A time when the library becomes a sanctuary, a quiet place to study. A time when many think will never pass.

MIDTERMS HAVE YOU DOWN?—You're not alone. Fusae Matsunami (left) and Fran Higaki puzzle over their texts while Elaine Yoshimura sneaks in a snooze. During this week and next, all SJS students will be burning the midnight oil in preparation for tests.

Students To Receive Help; Were They Mistreated?

By GERALD GUTHOR

Six of 14 students arrested in the recent Seventh Street beer party were heard Friday afternoon before Student Council — which wanted to know how police treated them and how they could be helped before their cases are tried Jan. 6.

College administration officials could not be reached for comment.

Present at the hour and a half meeting, that ASB Pres. Steve Larson specially called, was Harry B. Hoenes, assistant to the City Manager. Hoenes did not comment during the session, but he later said that he would help them all he could.

ASB President Larson said that he would contact Hoenes this week. Then, Hoenes will clarify the students' rights and present a feasible plan to the District Attorney's office. The best step in such a case is taking it to the DA who can investigate the matter further, Hoenes said.

DIRECTIVE

In the meantime, Student Council passed a two-part directive to the ASB Executive Council that states:

—Student Council directs the ASB Executive Council to study in conjunction with the City Administration and the San Jose Police Department the matter of the raid of the illegal party Oct. 4 and to report to Student Council within one week.

—Executive Council will draft a resolution to the District Attorney requesting all due consideration in the matter of the 14 minors' arrest.

STUDENTS' FUTURES

ASB President Larson said, "We have to think in terms of the future and what we can do for these students." He added, "However, there is no getting around it—they have committed crimes."

What happened was explained by each student in separate statements.

Several of the students, all minors, said that either they or others they saw were mistreated and confused by arresting officers. In some cases, the officers made jokes of the whole thing.

'HANDCUFFED'

A 19-year-old girl explained, "I saw two girls handcuffed."

Another girl—also 19 years old—stated, "They (the arresting officers) made jokes about the whole thing. Then they asked me my major. I told them education, and they roared laughing."

The others, a 20-year-old student and three 17-year-olds, complained that officers at Santa Clara County Jail handled them roughly and never told them exactly what was happening.

FIRST ARRESTS

This is all the alleged offenders' first arrests.

While Student Council heard only the students' side of the story, ASB President Larson reminded the council that it needs to hear more of the case especially from the other side before it claims that the students were mistreated unduly.

Student Council Adviser Dr. Lowell Walter stated, "I don't blame the council for being unhappy." He then challenged the council "to get on the stick and provide something for students to do on Friday afternoons—if you're really concerned. You have the money," he added.

may become eligible to participate in the programs.

His talk is sponsored by the Foreign Language Department.

Dr. Lantos, professor of economics, presently on leave from San Francisco State College, has studied at Universities of Budapest, Paris, Washington and California.

He has received the Ohio State University Award for "Best Educational Television Series in the Country in the Field of Systematic Instruction," and the DuPont First Award for "Meritorious Public Service to the American People."

He is the writer-producer of over 200 television programs in the field of national and international affairs and was news analyst and public affairs commentator for KRON-TV, San Francisco.

Dr. Lantos has traveled extensively in the Soviet Union, Far East, Near East, Middle East, Africa, Latin America, Australia, Eastern and Western Europe and is thoroughly prepared in discussing studies in the Overseas Programs.

General Education Check Lists Now Ready--ADM102

New students who were admitted this fall semester, with 90 semester units or more may come to the Admissions Office, Adm102, to pick up their check list of general education requirements.

Those admitted with less than 90 semester units this fall semester will be notified later as to when they may receive their check lists.

Pair Suspended For TGIF Party

John Sattui and Jay Senter, alleged promoters of the TGIF on Seventh St. Oct. 4, that resulted in the arrest of 20 weekend celebrants, were suspended from school Friday.

The other 14 San Jose State students who were arrested at the binge were placed on probation to the Dean of Students.

The decision was released by Dean of Students Stanley C. Benz after administrative review of the recommendation made by the ASB Judiciary.

Dean Benz indicated that the college took an extremely dim view of such proceedings and that they should be halted. He listed various school sponsored programs and organizations which were set with the intention of helping students meet others.

Sattui and Senter have pleaded not guilty to charges of distributing alcoholic beverages in a public place without a license, and selling alcoholic beverages to minors. Their trial is scheduled for Jan. 14.

Red Chinese Trade Dilemma for Japan

By ROBERT CRABBE
United Press International
TOKYO (UPI)—There are two Chinese governments in the world and nobody knows it better than Japan. She does business with both of them.

Japan is standing at an important crossroads in her relationship with Taipei and Peking.

The Communist Chinese government, which has dominated the Chinese mainland for 13 years, wants to buy equipment for textile factories from Japan and pay for them on easy terms over a period of five years.

The Nationalist Chinese government, based on Formosa and dedicated to free enterprise, has registered a formal protest and appealed to Japan to back out of the deal. It wants nothing done to strengthen Red China's economy.

Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and his chief cabinet ministers thus must make a decision that is bound to anger somebody.

If they approve the sale of synthetic fibre plants to Red China on credit terms, the Japanese will incur the ire of Nationalist China, and its chief backer, the United States.

If they reject the deal, they may endanger Japan's rapidly reviving trade with the Communist mainland.

TRADE WITH TAIPEI

Officially, Japan recognizes President Chiang Kai-Shek's regime in Formosa as the official government of China. From a business point of view, Japan's trade with Nationalist China is only a small fraction of her economic activity, but it is a profitable one. In her trade with Formosa, Japan has consistently made money.

According to official figures supplied by the Nationalist Chinese embassy in Tokyo, Japan sold goods valued at $92,850,000 (m) to Nationalist China in 1962. She purchased goods valued at only $52.1 million from Formosa. The balance thus was more than $30 million in Japan's favor.

In its effort to industrialize, the Chiang Kai-Shek regime has turned largely to Japan, a low-price seller of vital industrial items.

The Japanese have held a large share of the Formosan market despite the fact that American sales there have increased in recent years as a result of the extensive American aid program to the Chinese Nationalists. American imports occupied about 19.8 per cent of the Formosa market last year, compared with Japan's 44 per cent.

TRADE WITH REDS

Japan's trade relations with Communist China present a more checkered picture. Rather than being profitable to Japan, the Japanese trade with the Red mainland is more of a barter arrangement, designed to

Thrust and Parry

Writer Challenges Irresponsibility Idea

Editor:

Dr. Benjamin T. Sims' recent attack on the "thesis of irresponsibility" (Thrust and Parry, Oct. 17) requires comment.

1. Dr. Sims asserts that if an individual commits himself to the belief that he is "free" to do as he pleases regardless of the consequences, then "the ultimate end is chaos." Has Dr. Sims any evidence to support this timeworn chaos-thesis?

2. Dr. Sims' statement that "freedom involves a certain responsibility on the part of the individual" may be true. However, cannot "freedom" exist if an individual chooses to commit himself to irresponsibility in those areas which do not significantly affect "freedom"?

3. Certainly a society has the "right" to curb irresponsible behavior and activities if it so desires. However, it does not follow from this that an individual does not have the "right" to be irresponsible.

4. It takes considerable ingenuity to give terms like "irresponsibility" and "freedom" and "beer-bust" categorical positions on a "goodness-badness" continuum.

5. "Disrespect for those in authority" does not necessarily follow from a commitment to irresponsibility.

6. Why is "disregard for social laws and mores" so "appalling" to Dr. Sims? Perhaps the term "appalling" should have been replaced by "contrary to my beliefs."

7. An inference is made that Dr. Sims would prefer an angelic world of molded, responsible, mature individuals. How long would it take such a race to die of stagnation, Dr. Sims?

Mosk 'Gone Too Far'

SJS Student Accuses

Editor:

Our state attorney general, Stanley Mosk, has done it again. He has just completed a new scheme to further restrict the rights of the individual.

I would like to quote from a recent opinion issued from the office of Stanley Mosk.

"Home brewing is prohibited by the State Constitution," Mosk ruled, "and the sale of equipment and ingredients to anyone but licensed brewers is a violation of the Penal Code."

"Any person other than a licensee is not permitted to manufacture beer, even though it is intended only for home consumption."

"Anyone who encourages the purchase of these elements knowing of the illegal use intended has sufficient stake in the fruit of the enterprise to be considered a partner."

Stanley Mosk has gone too far. I realize the petty bureaucrats in Sacramento must do something to justify the salaries they receive, but how trivial can you get and where will it cease? What is next? Could Stanley Mosk construe the last paragraph I quoted to prosecute someone who writes a book concerning home brewing or for that matter ban such books already in existence? When will government, which is supposed to be an instrument of the people, discontinue its repression of individual rights and liberties?

From Stanley Mosk all the way down to the cop on the corner, I would now like to say I will not submit to a law which benefits only liquor lobbyists and their backers. I am sure we are all well aware of the persuasive methods recently adopted by lobbyists in our state capitol. Also, on my own private property my old clay crock is going to continue in operation and if necessary I will see them all in court.

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
Back in April, 1962, when Brazilian President Joao Goulart paid a state visit to the United States, a Brazilian newsmen pleaded:

"Give him a chance. He is trying to be a friend."

During the two years of his presidency, Goulart's chief difficulty has been that in the extremes of Brazilian politics he has been forced to walk a tightrope between right and left. And in the last two weeks there have been definite signs that the rope is becoming frayed.

On both the extreme right and extreme left, Goulart was a man without a friend. Complicating the already chaotic state of affairs in South America's largest nation was the fact that maneuvering already has started for the presidential elections scheduled for October, 1965.

This week Goulart's minister of education, Paulo de Tarso, quit in what was interpreted as

In Rio de Janeiro, capital of Guanabara State, Gov. Carlos Lacerda, militantly anti-Communist and an avowed presidential candidate, accused unidentified authorities "directly linked" with Goulart of plotting to assassinate him.

Lacerda has established a good record of building schools, clearing slums and pressing public works.

Lacerda expects a swing to the political right and will use his record as governor to help his presidential ambitions.

As for Goulart, there are signs that he is working toward cooperation with the middle-road Social Democrats of former President Juscelino Kubitschek.

Kubitschek also is a presidential candidate for 1965.

Whether or not another man might have done better, it must be admitted that Goulart's position has been an almost impossible one.

Red Chinese Flag Torn Down, Trade Relations Hit

enable both sides to come out even.

As with Nationalist China, Japan sells Red China capital goods and buys raw materials. She sends the Chinese Communists special steels, farm implements and chemical fertilizers. In return, the Peking regime sells Japan corn, soy beans and coal. Japan could buy these things in the non-Communist world, but China's nearness helps cut the shipping costs sharply.

NATIONALISTS ACT

Seizing on an incident in which Japanese nationalists tore down a Red Chinese flag at a trade fair, the Chinese virtually severed trade relations with Japan. Japanese sales to Red China dropped from about $30 million in 1959 to around $2 million in 1960.

But the split with the Soviet Union caused China to swallow its pride and reach out for more trade with the Japanese.

Japanese shipments to Red China were back up to $16 million in 1960 and reached $36 million last year with Red China shipping about $42 million worth of goods to Japan. In November, a mission of "private Japanese businessmen" went to Peking and worked out a new agreement designed to enlarge the flow of goods.

FACES DECISION

This year, Japan expects its "two-way trade" with Red China to reach $150 million, with a slight balance in China's favor. In volume, this will be close to Japan's Formosa trade.

Through most of last year, the Japanese balked at granting China time payments. In December, Peking broke this down somewhat by winning deferred payments on a large shipment of fertilizer. There were further concessions during the spring on a small steel and farm implements shipment.

Now Peking wants to buy two synthetic fibre factories, with five years to pay.

Officially at least, the United States takes the position that trade with Red China is a matter for Japan to decide. However, embassy staff members here have been at pains to let the Japanese public know that the United States would like Japan to look to the free world for trade expansion.

Intramural Action

Sig Eps Trip Delta Upsilon, 6-0

Gex Zimmerman completed a 10 yard touchdown pass to Clark Heinrich and the Sig Eps upset the undefeated DY's 6-0 in fraternity intramural football play.

It was Sig Eps' first victory of the season while DY lost its first league game in four contests.

ATO rambled to its fifth-fraternity victory by overpowering Sigma Pi 30-12. Larry Elzonde passed to Tim Kirkpatrick for one Sigma Pi score and ran one himself but it wasn't enough to overtake ATO.

Gary Brenneman passed for five touchdowns in leading ATO to its win. He completed a series to Ron Deaszy, Ray Harris, Jim Prior, Tom Morehouse, and Joe Evers.

SAE captured its fifth game by topping Sigma Nu 7-0. Jim McGuire passed to Bill Humphreys for the only score in the game.

FORMER GREAT

San Jose State water polo mentor Lee Walton is no stranger to SJS. He was named to the Spartan Hall of Fame after starring in water polo here in 1954-57.

An intercepted pass by Rick Linneweh gave Theta Chi a 6-0 win over winless DSP.

PIKA shut out Theta Xi 21-0 behind the passing of quarterback Larry Solari. Solari completed three touchdown passes. Dave Campbell was on the receiving end of two of the passes while Jim Commendatore snagged the third. Jack Proctor aided the PIKA attack by tagging a Theta Xi back in the end zone for a safety.

Mark McManus and Bill Laughlin each tossed a touchdown pass to lead Sigma Chi to a 12-0 victory over Lambda Chi. Ed Marcos gathered in both TD passes to account for the scoring.

Phi Sigma Kappa toppled SAE No. 2 12-2 with a passing attack guided by Vaughn Kohanek. He completed a series to Don Mercer and Joe Moffitt for the touchdowns. Gary Barnett tagged Kohanek in the end zone for a safety for SAE's only points.

Red Horde, defeated Sigma Chi No. 2 by a baseball score 6-2 to remain undefeated with a 6-0 record. Dick Roby hit Randy Wright with a pass in the end zone for Red Horde's touchdown and Wright was tagged for a safety for Sigma Chi's two points.

The Cal-Hawaiians blanked Fountain Hall 15-0 to remain in the top spot in the "A" League with a 6-0 mark. Larry Pedradalaso teamed with Paul Petrich on two aeriels for Cal-Hawaiians' two scores.

MISS AFFLERBACH'S GOLDEN JUBILEE: HURRAH!

YOU have heard us mention Miss Revera Afflerbach who has been Forelady here at Eagle Shirts since 1918. It is not often that one sees such allegiance, and we appreciate it. Also, she has been very nice to allow us to bandy her name about in ads, books, etc. So we would like to proclaim something to honor her and also give us another excuse to bandy her name: The Afflerbach Golden Jubilee Year. ★ Now, ordinarily this wouldn't occur until 1968, but why wait until the last moment? Besides, we have already struck a medal (see above). The cloth in the shirt upon which the medal is hanging is also named after her: Afflerbach Cloth. It is made in Switzerland to her specifications, which are 20% wool and 80% cotton. Her reasoning is interesting. She wanted enough wool to make it very soft, but enough cotton to make it light and washable. Any more wool than that and it's not a shirt so much as a nice, if bulky, garment for woodchopping or other hearty activities. ★ Additionally, it is mothproof; if for no other reason than that no moth would be willing to go to all that work for such scant nourishment. Afflerbach Cloth is the moth equivalent of pomegranates. The Afflerbach Jubilee Shirt comes, complete with medal as shown, in solid colors (flame red, midnight navy, loden green, winter white, smoke blue) at about $13.00; and tartans, district checks and blazer stripes at about $14.00, wherever Eagle Shirts are sold. If you're not sure where that is in your town, write Miss Afflerbach, Eagle Shirtmakers, Quakertown, Pa. It might be nice if you said congratulations.

How the Ball Bounces

Weights Scientific Aid
To Gridders, Harriers

By MIKE MURPHY

Progress is an athlete's most important asset.

A previously shunned method of training is now an integral part of football, track, and cross-country training programs—weight training and resistive exercise.

Dean Miller, who refused to let any of his athletes get near a barbell in the early '50's now is an enthusiastic proponent of the weights.

Miller is so serious about the scientific application of this breakthrough in athletic conditioning that he is considering doing his doctoral research on it.

"Today we are working with a smarter, taller, better fed kid, but an essentially weaker one physically. This is due to our standard of living," he says.

"Resistive exercise is one of the best methods of removing weakness."

"In track, we don't want bulk, we want strength—there's a difference. Isometrics will produce brute strength while weight-lifting puts on the inches."

How did Miller find out about weights?

"I used to help rub down top athletes at the Kansas and Drake Relays in the midwest in the early '50's. While I had them on the table, I would ask them how they got to be great. They told me about weights."

"In the first five years of my coaching career, I didn't have a 50-foot shotput, but the first year I used weights I had one. In my final year at Mira Costa High, we had 13 men over the 50-foot mark."

What are the advantages of weights for a distance runner?

"For distance runners, it strengthens their arms and shoulders," he said.

Ron Davis, two-time cross-country All-American for SJS, echoed Miller's statements. "Running in the hills is great for the legs, but unless you lift weights, your upper body—especially the arms—get awful tired. Strengthening my arms has improved my running tremendously."

In 1957, Miller conducted a survey of the top 10 athletes from 14 sports at the top 10 schools in the country. Of the 5,600 letters he sent out, 42 per cent reported they used weights.

He sent out the same poll in 1962 and 88 per cent responded that they used weights, a jump of 46 per cent in five years.

San Jose State's weight training program has advanced in two years to the point where it is bulging at the seams. Some 1,557 men signed up for the course in the spring. With inadequate facilities, which Miller feels unsafe, the physical education department just can't handle the overcrowded weight room right now.

"We have hopes of moving up to the boxing room in the near future," he says.

Miller's work does not stop at the collegiate level. In the spring and summer, he teaches an extension course in the scientific principles of weight training. To date, 334 coaches from high schools and colleges in Northern California have taken the course.

"The results will be appearing in a couple of years when the coaches have a chance to apply the techniques they learn here," he says.

SJS also is the first school to offer an advanced class in weight training for upper division students.

"Weights and resistive exercise is the most controlled and scientific method of building strength," Miller says.

Judo Team Goes
In Palo Alto Meet

San Jose State's judo team, National Collegiate champions in 1962-63, enters the Palo Alto Invitational Saturday at Palo Alto High School.

Competing for Yosh Uchida's Spartans will be three NCAA individual titlists: Dave Sawyer, 180 pound and all-around winner; Gary Newquist, 195, and Kay Yamasaki, 165.

Many teams from the Bay Area, considered by Uchida as one of the key judo centers in the United States, will be in the Palo Alto tourney. Included will be University of California, coached by Uchida's brother George.

Uchida will try for his third straight NCAA title this spring. He has produced nine individual championships in the last two years.

Poloists Romp Over Gators In NorCal League Contest

The Spartan varsity water polo team outmuscled and outclassed a San Francisco State seven to score an easy 22-4 win Friday night in the SJS pool.

For San Jose, it was their second NorCal League win against three losses.

The Gators had their problems before the game even started as a car carrying five first-stringers recorded a flat tire on the Bayshore. When they opened the trunk to apply the spare, they found it was flat too. SFS started with a reserve lineup and held San Jose to a 3-0 lead. However, the Spartans started their third string lineup. Jim Thomson, former Riverside JC flash, pumped in two goals while Lou Tully added the third one.

Walton sent in his first stringers in the second quarter and Charley Douglas and Herm Radloff each plunked in two points before the rest of the Gator squad arrived.

The Gator's George Drysdale warmed up with two goals in the third quarter, but the romp had already started as Jim Adams and Bill Parker each scored twice to give SJS a 15-3 lead at the three-quarter mark.

Frank Barnes came off the bench in the final five minutes to collect three goals. Radloff added two more to wind up the night's high scorer with four.

The varsity hit 22 of 57 shots from the field for 40 per cent. The Gator's All-State goalie LeRoy Farwell fended off many Spartan shots in a fine losing effort.

Coach Lee Walton called the game exactly what it was — "a team effort." "You can't single out anybody in a game like this, everybody played well and many scored," he said.

Drysdale was high scorer for the Gators with three goals. Tim Hoffman supplied the fourth.

For San Jose, Douglas and Barnes had three goals; Parker, Riddle, Adams, and Thompson all had two. Tully, Jeff Logan, Ray Arveson and Bob Howse each added a single tally.

Goalie Howse picked up his when an errant Gator pass got past goalie Farwell for a Spartan score.

The varsity had an easy time as predicted, but they face stiffer competition Friday night when the UOP Tigers come to town for a return match. The Spartans fell to the Bengals at Stockton in their first meeting, 11-9, in double overtime.

Five Touchdown Passes

Morton's Air Show Flattens SJS

By DAVE NEWHOUSE
Craig Morton, who is destined to become the greatest quarterback in University of California history, convinced San Jose State of why Saturday as he threw five touchdown passes for a 34-13 Bear victory at Memorial Stadium in Berkeley.

Morton's performance was a school game record and moved him to third place in passing and sixth in total offense in Cal's all-time listings.

Bob Titchenal's Spartans handled the ball 83 times on offense, compared to Cal's 44 plays. SJS had more total yardage than the Bears, 342-319, and led in first downs 19-13. But, if you can't look more impressive on the scoreboard, then statistics say very little.

San Jose got on the scoreboard first with 11:25 left in the opening quarter. A delayed pass from Rand Carter to Walt Roberts covered 51 yards to the Cal three, where Engel carried it over on the next play. Rich Tatley kicked the PAT which made the score 7-0.

Tom Blanchfield set up Morton's first scoring pass by taking Tatley's ensuing kickoff one yard deep in his end zone and packing it 91 yards before Bob Bonds necktied him on the Spartan 10. Two plays later Jerry Mosher swung right, took a Morton pass and fell just inside the red flag for a TD. Blanchfield tied it at 7-7 with a placement.

San Jose had the ball on the Cal 11 when the eBars held with three minutes left in the first half. Tatley tried a 28-yard field goal which was far enough but wide to the right. Missing here cost the Spartans a chance to regain the momentum they lost when Blanchfield and Morton combined to make it 7-7.

The Bears then scored on a 67-yard pass play from Morton to former Campbell teammate Jack Schraub, who bobbed the ball three times in a fight with San Jose's Dennis Parker, before gathering it in on the 20. He raced in untouched. Cal held a 13-7 halftime lead.

Morton continued his passing wizardry, which saw him complete 10 for 17. He teamed with Blanchfield on a 49-yard sideline pass that went all the way for the score. Morton hit on a surprise two-point pass play to end Dick Williams. SJS was down 21-7—but not out.

Ken Berry sparked the Spartans on a 58-yard scoring march. He hit Roberts three times with passes, the last one good for four yards and a touchdown. Roberts made the catch engulfed in a heap of Cal blue-shirts for 21-13.

Morton came right back, hitting on a swing pass to Mosher, who escaped a head-high tackle by Bob Peterson and skipped 49 yards into paydirt. Cal had a 27-13 lead, but the Spartans still wouldn't quit.

Berry, with passes to Bill Holland, Cass Jackson and Roberts, moved the ball to the 11. A personal foul penalty brought it back to the 25. Holland took a Berry aerial to the 18, where Berry, trying for the six-pointer, had his pass intercepted at the goal line by Schraub.

Cal scored late in the fourth quarter on an 18-yard pass from Morton to Williams.

"We stopped the Cal offense where we thought we had to in order to win," Titchenal said. "But the easy plays, like the kickoff returns and the short yardage passes, went all the way."
